

Mount Vernon Banner Historic Newspaper 1885

4-23-1885

Mount Vernon Democratic Banner April 23, 1885

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digital.kenyon.edu/banner1885>

Recommended Citation

"Mount Vernon Democratic Banner April 23, 1885" (1885). Mount Vernon Banner Historic Newspaper 1885. 38.
<https://digital.kenyon.edu/banner1885/38>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in Mount Vernon Banner Historic Newspaper 1885 by an authorized administrator of Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. For more information, please contact noltj@kenyon.edu.

The Banner.

L. HARPER, Editor and Proprietor.

Official Paper of the County.

MOUNT VERNON, OHIO:

THURSDAY MORNING...APR. 23, 1885.

The big burly police and constabulary in Ireland have done most of the hurraing for the Prince of Wales.

The Philadelphia Times says: The Prince of Wales' pathway through Ireland does not lie through the hearts of its people.

TURKEY now declares that if this Anglo-Russian war goes on, no British vessels of war will be permitted to enter the Black Sea.

The Galveston (Texas) News says: Cleveland has been in office over five weeks and there is not a splinter out of his backbone yet.

JAMES M. BUCHANAN, Postmaster at Vienna, Iowa, was arrested for converting money-order funds to his own use. Turn the rascals out.

HON. BAYLIS W. HANNA, of Indiana, has been appointed Minister to Persia. The appointment is credited to Vice President Hendricks.

We are not getting much news lately from the Riel rebellion in the Northwest. We think it will turn out not to be a real rebellion after all.

The Philadelphia Times respectfully directs President Cleveland's attention to the fact that the Mahone Republicans still hold the fort in Virginia.

The postmaster of Chattanooga, Tenn., was arrested for stealing letters, and the postoffice at Mt. Pleasant, N.C., was robbed. Turn the rascals out.

ENGLAND and Russia are negotiating for peace, but actively preparing for war. This painful uncertainty greatly distresses American grain speculators.

ACCORDING to the Columbus Dispatch, the friends of General Beatty are already claiming sixty counties with more to hear from. There is nothing like him talk.

HON. J. F. MCKINSEY, formerly Congressman from the Miami district, has been found guilty of charging higher fees than the law allows in pension claims.

The farmers and laborers who settled in Oklahoma, have been driven out, and the "cattle kings" are still permitted to hold the fort. This is not even handed justice.

The New York Times, which is supposed to speak by authority for the administration, says: "Williams will not go to Hayti as Minister Resident and Consul General."

The Republican papers pretend to be very much afraid that President Cleveland will "destroy the Democratic party." With these papers' wish is father to the thought."

The Republican city government in Cleveland went into operation last week, followed by a grand baseball tournament on Sunday. So much for the "party of great moral ideas."

HON. MARTIN A. FORAN, of Cleveland, is booming up as a formidable Democratic candidate for Governor in many parts of the State. He is very popular with the working classes.

As Judge Nash is out of a job (the Supreme Court Commission having run its course), he is now ready to do any political work or accept any fat office the G. O. P. has at its disposal.

The new Cabinet of France don't seem to possess adhesive qualities—M. Clamageran, the Minister of Finance, having already resigned, because he could not agree with his colleagues.

BENJ. PLATT, a well-known attorney of Cincinnati, a brother of Consul Platt, at Cork, Ireland, hung himself in his law office on Fourth street, on Friday. The cause is not ascertained as yet.

GEN. SAMUEL F. CARY, of Ohio, is in Washington. He wishes to be appointed to Paris. John H. Putnam, of Chillicothe, is a candidate for Gen. Comly's old place at Honolulu.

REV. DR. DAVID STEIN, a Rabbi of Wilkesbarre, Pa., committed suicide by taking poison. From papers found by his physician, it appears that he contemplated the act for some time.

SENATOR PAYNE, has returned to Cleveland, where he will find, in his beautiful Euclid Avenue home, that quiet peace and comfort which are strangers to public life in Washington.

The office of the Buffalo Express was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday evening last, caused by the explosion of an oil tank above one of the printer's cases. Loss very heavy, but fully insured.

The exercises incident to the unveiling of the statue of Edgar Allan Poe, in New York, May 4, will include speeches by Edwin Booth, Leslie Wallace and Gen. Censola, and a poem by William Winter.

"THE Ohio House of Representatives pleaded guilty to pitiful cowardice when it failed to expel Allen O. Myers," is the Senator William of the Bureau of the Ohio State General Assembly.

The prominent citizens of New York, without regard to party, will give a magnificent banquet to Hon. George H. Pendleton, Minister to Germany, at Delmonico's, on the evening of the 28th, inst., just before he sails for Europe.

The report, started by some idle gossip-monger in Washington, that Secretary Manning was about to retire from the Treasury Bureau, to become Collector of Customs in New York, is pronounced wholly without foundation.

There is not so much talk at present about Judge Parker as the Republican candidate for Governor as there was a few weeks ago. Foraker no doubt would like to be Governor, but he don't fancy the idea of being twice defeated.

This Ohio Central railway was sold by Master Commissioner Goodspeed, at Toledo, on the 15th, to C.J. Canada, representing the bondholders of the main line, for one million of dollars—that being the only bid made.

HON. GEORGE W. GEORGE has secured since the 15th of March pensions for nineteen ex-soldiers in his Congressional district. No man ever sent to Congress from Ohio has labored more faithfully for the soldier boys than Judge George.

GEN. HAZEN having been found guilty by a court martial of conduct "unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," has been "reprimanded" by the President, with an order that he be "released from arrest and assume the duties of his office."

A BILL to establish a free National Park at Niagara Falls, and to protect the adjacent lands from the ravages of the world from vandalism, has passed the New York Legislature and is now a law. This should have been done long ago.

JOHNNY McLEAN's Columbus tool wants Durbin Ward nominated for Governor by acclamation. If General Ward has any idea of being a candidate, he should hire a blacksmith to put a big padlock on Johnny's mouth and nasty paper.

THE Mansfield Daily News claims that that town "is the largest inland city in Ohio between Cincinnati and the lake." This is simply ridiculous. Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Zanesville, Canton, Akron and several other "inland" cities take the lead of Mansfield.

Of all the prospective Republican candidates for Governor, Gen. John Beatty is the man who is most spoken of by the newspapers. He will get left, however, by the Democratic ticket, the machine opposed to him, because of his outspoken independence.

The President has re-appointed five United States Consuls, whose previous appointments were not acted upon before the adjournment of the Senate. This goes to prove that the President is determined to assume all the responsibilities his high office impose upon him.

The war upon the gamblers at Wheeling is progressing vigorously. Indictments were found last week against not less than sixty of the sharks, including an ex-Governor, a State officer and other prominent people—merchants, manufacturers and young society men.

We agree with the Jackson Herald that since the days of the old wheel-horse, Col. Medary, Columbus has had no Democratic daily equal to the Times. Under the editorship of Hon. S. K. Donavin. The Democracy of Ohio should give the Times an enthusiastic support as it deserves.

GEN. J. W. DENVER, one of the best of Democrats and purest of men in the State, is again talked of for Governor. If General Denver were to become a literary bureau and spend ten thousand dollars on political humbugs, he might secure the nomination; but he is not that sort of a man.

The nomination of the Rev. Poinsett (colored) as Trustee of the Ohio University, was rejected by the Senate by a party vote—not because he was a colored man and a Republican, but for the reason he has used some very mean and insulting language in speaking of the Democratic party.

The United States Supreme Court has decided that a married woman's separate estate cannot be levied on by persons whom the husband owes for provisions for the family table, though the wife may have had the benefit of such provisions. A good many grocers will be interested in this decision.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer of Saturday says: "The Sunday Plain Dealer will be one of the best papers ever issued in Cleveland, and there will be good reading in it for everybody." We are not disposed to doubt the truth of this, but isn't it cruel not to allow such a good paper to visit the BANNER office?

FRED DOUGLAS, the colored Republican orator, made a speech at Washington on Wednesday, April 17th. He pitched into both parties severely, but eulogized President Cleveland. Fred, holds a fat office in Washington, and would like to continue holding it. Hence this shower of honey on Cleveland.

SEVEN New York politicians are anxious to succeed Sunset Cox in Congress. They are Senator Campbell, of Irving Hall; ex-Senator Grady, Edward McCue, of Tammany Hall; ex-Alderman Fitzpatrick and Charles Reilly, county Democrats; ex-Alderman Shields, of Tammany; and ex-Assemblyman James H. Lane, a gambler at Hot Springs, Ark., sued the estate of James H. Brown, at Pittsburgh, for $200,000, money claimed to have been advanced by Lane to Brown, in gambling. The jury brought in a verdict for defendant, thus deciding that the contract under which the plaintiff expected to recover was a gambling contract.

The Prince of Wales, finding the atmosphere of Cork anything but congenial, concluded to change his route of travel, and quietly stole away to the beautiful Lake of Killarney, where he could kiss the blarney stone and drink in the genuine spirit of Irish eloquence. The Prince may become "a broth of a boy" after a while.

The Cincinnati Ohio Gaz. is booming its bitter enemy, Johnny McLean, for Governor. People with "half an eye," and that stone-blind, can see through this. With McLean as a candidate, the Democracy would be beaten one hundred thousand in Ohio, and we very much doubt if he could carry a single county in the State.

What is the worst coming to, anyhow? Every day we read in the papers accounts of married men running off with other men's wives, young girls running off with married men, and of married women running off with single gentlemen. These little occurrences are narrated with all the romance of a dime novel, filling many columns.

The Cincinnati Commercial in its notes on the Pendleton banquet says: The only recognition Ohio ever received in a National Democratic Convention was the nomination of George H. Pendleton for the Vice Presidency; and the only first-class foreign mission an Ohio Democrat was ever appointed to fill was that of Germany—Mr. Pendleton again.

MEADER township, Belmont county, having become a resort of thieves and all kinds of disreputable characters, some fifty masked men, "armed and equipped," visited them one night last week and ordered them to leave the county and state within twenty-four hours, or else the men would be hung and the women tarred and feathered. They left at once for West Virginia.

We are now in receipt of the Youngstown Daily News, the new Republican paper, started in opposition to the News Register. It is small, but brim-full of fresh news from all parts of the world, especially the Mahoning Valley, with no boiler plate nonsense about it. Youngstown is one of the live, go-ahead little manufacturing cities in Ohio, and the News is a true exponent and representative of the spirit and industry of the people. Success to it in everything but politics. We may as well say at the outset that the entire Democratic ticket was elected by over five thousand majority. Many conscientious Republicans are using this as a pretext, the latter came off victorious.

Will it be War or Peace? Russia and England continue to exchange polite notes in regard to the pending "unpleasantness," and each professes to be extremely solicitous for peace. A dispatch from Vienna to the London Daily Telegraph says: "M. de Giers, the Russian Premier, sent a telegram to Baron de Staal, the Russian Minister at London, in these words: 'I am charged by the Czar's personal command to request you to inform the English government that in the Czar's opinion war would be deplorable to both countries. The Czar firmly hopes that a prompt and simple arrangement will be established.' In reply to this Baron de Staal telegraphed M. de Giers that the English Cabinet gladly accepted M. de Giers' communication."

The fact is, very little war news can be obtained at present; but the Gladstone government is making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and it will surely come unless there is a complete backing out by one or both of the parties. A London telegram (April 18) to the New York Herald says: The prospect of peace may be delusive. Many experienced diplomats entertain a firm conviction that the apparent truce is merely a tactical move, making extensive preparations for war, and

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Ohio. ELECTIONS.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 25. JOINT RESOLUTION Amending Section 4, Article X, of the Constitution, relating to the Election of Township Officers.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio (two-fifths of all the members elected to each house concurring therein) That there be submitted to the electors of the State, on the second Tuesday of October, A. D. 1885, a proposition to amend section four, article ten of the Constitution of the State, so as to read as follows:

Section 4. Township officers shall be elected by the electors of each township, at such time, in such manner, and for such term, not exceeding three years, as may be provided by law; but shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

The electors electing, at said election, to vote in favor of the foregoing amendment, shall have written in printed or other legible words, "Constitutional amendment township officers—Yes" and those who do not favor the amendment shall have written in printed or other legible words, "Constitutional amendment township officers—No."

A. D. MARSH, Speaker of the House of Representatives, President pro tem. of the Senate, Adopted April 1, 1885.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Ohio. ELECTIONS. House Joint Resolution No. 67.

JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing Amendments to Articles Two, Three, and Ten, of the Constitution of the State.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That propositions to amend section 2 of article II, section 1 of article III, and section 2 of article X of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, shall be submitted to the electors of this State, on the second Tuesday of October, A. D. 1885, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II. Section 2. Senators and Representatives shall be elected biennially by the electors of the respective counties or districts on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, their terms of office shall commence on the first day of January next thereafter, and continue two years.

ARTICLE III. Section 1. The executive department shall consist of a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, and an Attorney-General, who shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, by the electors of the State, and shall hold their offices for four years, and shall be eligible for re-election.

ARTICLE X. Section 2. County officers shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, by the electors of each county, in such manner, and for such term, not exceeding three years, as may be provided by law.

FORM OF BALLOT. At such election, the voter in favor of the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of such amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

The Banner. THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Dan Mace, the well-known driver, is reported to be near the point of death from Bright's disease of the kidneys.

The prospects of the indigo crop of India are said to be very bright, and of serious droughts in Bengal and Behar.

William A. Palmer, a farmer in Virginia, was assaulted and robbed by two negroes, who afterward set fire to his house.

Ex-Senator Stockton, of New Jersey, is in Washington. It is rumored that the President desires him to accept a position in his cabinet.

A minister of the Gospel at York, Maine, advertises: "Marriage is a social ally, acceptable at all hours; strangers particularly invited."

The French ministers at London, St. Petersburg, Berlin and Vienna have been ordered to remain at their posts during the Afghan crisis.

The engagement of Mr. Emmons Blaine to a daughter of Mr. Joseph M. McKim, is once more the subject of Washington gossip.

It is remarked with surprise by some of the papers that Mrs. Ann Woods, of Baltimore, who is 103 years old, is somewhat feeble just now.

A well-known Montreal detective has made to the government an offer that for $10,000 he will deliver Louis Riel into its hands dead or alive.

Employees of the National Engine steamships, state that the English Government has offered the America out-right, paying $250,000 for her.

Mrs. Garfield's brother has bought a hotel in Mississippi City and expects that Mrs. Garfield will be one of his guests during the coming summer.

The Edgar Thompson Steel Works has commenced the erection of a furnace to be the largest in this country. It will be in operation in about one year.

S. S. Conant's friends believe he has committed suicide. Just before he disappeared he talked jocosely with a medical friend about the best way to end life.

One of the strikers at the McCormick Reaper Factory, Chicago, attempted to stop one of the company's buses, when a detective inside the bus shot him.

The Egyptian Government proposes to abolish all export duties on cereals, and to reduce navigation dues to increase the import duties on foreign tobacco.

A plot of ground set out in black walnut, and allowed to remain 20 years, it is asserted, will yield a larger profit than any other mode of investment on a farm.

Postmaster General Vilas proposes to institute a needed reform in the matter of post office names. That of Buzzards' Roost, Ga., he has already changed to "Birds' Roost."

Miss Jennie Chamberlain's principal rival in the favor of the Prince of Wales, Miss Winslow, of Boston, was presented at court by Lady Alfred.

Minister Cox returned from his Western journey to buy his mother very much fatigued by travel, but with no symptoms of a return of his recent severe illness.

Maurice Thompson, the well-known poet and writer, and one of the best authorities on archery in this country, has accepted the position of State Zoologist in Indiana.

General Kitch has informed the Italian Government that Massoway is the most important point on the Red sea. "Italy," he says, "must guard it carefully and keep it."

Whether or not it is fully decided that Greck must not, it is positive that Secretary Endicott has resigned his position as a member of the Harvard board.

Monroe D. Conway, who is to return to this country and reside in his residence in Washington, was forced to quit that city in 1887 on account of his radical political opinions.

The Nutmeg State is now reported to have recently flooded the Australian colonies with cigars made wholly of paper, carefully colored and veined, and flavored with nicotine.

Queen Victoria has a mania for collecting relics of engagements in war. Among others she has, mounted in crystal and silver, the musket ball that killed the career of Nelson.

The first specimen ever suggested that Col. Bob Ingalls' head is at level crops in the statement that he has an intense craving to appear on the stage in the part of Hamlet.

In giving his daughter $50,000 the Duke of Bedford gives her about half a year's income. His rural property yields that sum, and he owns an immense tract in London.

For purifying the blood, unloading the liver, regulating the bowels, and giving tone to the stomach give your stock Day's Horse and Cattle Powder. Price 25 cents per package of one pound.

Julia Ward Howe's new lecture, "Men's Women and Women's Women," has involved Washington society in a discussion to determine to which class Dr. Mary Walker can possibly belong.

Harry Dain, a young man engaged in the hide and leather business in Cincinnati, has disappeared, leaving debts to the amount of $12,000. It is said he has been leading a rather fast life of late.

Dunbar J. Douglas, Earl of Selkirk, is dead. He was born in 1830, and during his public career held the offices of Keeper of the Great Seal of Scotland and Lord Lieutenant of Scotland.

The wife of a Chicago millionaire, who failed several years ago, is now a clerk in a New York store, where, at different times, she spent over $40,000 in the purchase of statuary and other ornaments.

The congregation of rites of the Vatican has approved a petition received from the hierarchy of the American Indians to canonize the Jesuit martyr, who was massacred in 1546 by the Iroquois Indians.

There is to be no more prize fighting in New Orleans, the City Council having passed an ordinance prohibiting these scientific exhibitions. The popularity of the display of brute force is evidently retrograding.

A remedy resting on the basis of intrinsic worth demands confidence of all. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is known and used most satisfactorily throughout the land, as is attested by its great sales. Your druggist keeps it.

"GOOD AS WHEAT." N. Y. World.

The Lion and the Bear are growling. (How stand the crops?) And while the dogs of war are howling Our wheat goes up.

Across the seas the wind is blowing With hail and snow; But while the fighters' blood is flowing And life is sweet; But news that saddens some, to others Is good and true.

All o'er this blessed land of freedom Grain freely grows; When foes of light our folks can feed em— Likewise their foes.

To Liberty our thanks are owing For gifts of peace; While blooming wheat is growing, And gains increase.

Ladies of the Cabinet. From a Washington Letter.

Mrs. Manning is so far the queen bee of the Cabinet. She is a lady, and though not a very young woman, and brought to Mr. Manning some wealth and a social position. She is tall, with a slender, graceful figure, has good features, light brown hair and great animation and grace of manner.

As a thorough society woman, and wholly equal to the demands of her position, Mrs. Manning will soon be the best known and most popular of the new cabinet. Mrs. Vilas received with Mrs. Manning the guests of the evening.

At this quiet, graceful little woman, who made the acquaintance of society last week, while the guest of Mrs. Leiter, has been back to Wisconsin in a few days, and will not bring her children on and regularly establish herself until fall. Mrs. Endicott, wife of the new War Secretary, was also at home at the Arlington, and the visitors found her to be a typical Massachusetts woman; a cool, clear-headed, energetic Yankee, whose blood is the bluest of any in the great Commonwealth.

Mrs. Endicott is tall and sparely built. Her features are clear and decided, and with her dark eyes she has a crown of gray hair that was wound high and laid in smooth coils on the top of her head. She had a pleasant welcome and a vigorous hand-shake for all, and a fund of quicky spoken small talk at command. All Massachusetts gathered in her parlors and were proud to tell one another how the Endicott family tree ran generations beyond that of the Adams family, including the "roughly Endicott," British Governor of the early colony, and known to the younger generation through the "Ballad of the Shaker." It was a favorite declamation at school exercises.

How Wilkes Booth Passed the Pickets. Philadelphia Times.

"Did you ever know how Booth passed the pickets on the bridge of the eastern branch of the Potomac that fatal night?" said my friend. "I will tell you as it was told to me by the old sentinel who was that night on duty there."

A half hour before the time agreed upon by Booth to meet Harold, the latter, who had lived in the neighborhood of the bridge all his life, and who was across the river in the little village of Uniontown, then crossed the bridge to the Washington side.

Reader, if you suffer with sick headache, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will do you positive good. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 doses one dollar.

Carry the News. It is a poor woman in Wales, whose boy had been very ill for several years, had expended all of her means for medicine. At last the doctors gave him up and said he must die. He suffered so terribly with rheumatism that he could not move. One day some one told her about the Mount Lebanon Shakers. The evidence of the curative powers of their "Secret of Life" was convincing that she pawned the poor boy's clothing to buy a bottle of the remedy (Sigsbee's Syrup), but now she feels proud that she has cured her boy.

SICK HEADACHE—Thousands who have suffered intensely with sick headache, and who have tried every remedy, have completely cured them. One gentleman thus relieved, writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold."

Reader, if you suffer with sick headache, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will do you positive good. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 doses one dollar.

Our Present Blessing. Our blessings are not appreciated until we are deprived of them. Most notable of these is health, the lack of which magnifies our other burdens. A hacking cough, a severe cold, or any throat or lung disease is very troublesome, but all these are quickly and permanently removed by Dr. Biglow's Positive Cure. Price 50 cents, trial bottles free of Baker Bros.

John Denney distinctly states that Acker's English Remedy has done more to cure contracted consumption, than any other medicine. An entirely new medicine, guaranteed. 4-ans to Apr 8

DIVORCE NOTICE. Catharine Brymre, Plaintiff, vs. John Brymre, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

Gratefulness. Mr. H. Samsel, Ottawa, Kansas, writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O.—Gentlemen: I have suffered for seven years, but tried every thing and many physicians, and all have failed. I went to Pittsburgh, and while there fell on the street, my breath ceased to leave my lungs, and numbness overpowered me. I determined to give PERUNA a fair trial. I used four bottles of each, and my trouble left never to return. I left Pittsburgh three weeks ago for Kansas, and thought, as I was going to new territory, I might take a bottle of PERUNA with me, on account of bad water, etc. I arrived here with one-half bottle. I found one of my friends in a pretty bad condition. The doctors were treating her for chills and fever. I did not know what her trouble was, but I persuaded her to use the PERUNA. She did so, and the first day she was up doing her work. Now this seems strange, but it is, nevertheless, a candid truth. She used it, and has never had cause to lie down since the day since she took the first three doses."

A Case that was Pronounced Incurable. Miss C. C. Peck, 714 Jackson street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O.—Gentlemen: I have been suffering for fifteen years with a severe cough and bronchitis (so the doctors call it). I was treated by different physicians and used considerable money for different kinds of patent medicines, but received no benefit whatever. Dr. Fox, of this city, claimed I had consumption, and there was no hope for me ever getting better. I was so bad that I began to think of death. I took eight bottles in all, and now I feel like a new woman. If it had not been for PERUNA I should have been in my grave now. It is a wonderful remedy, and I recommend it to all my friends."

Mrs. Baker Bros. Mt. Vernon, O., writes: "Your PERUNA sells well. Customers speak of it as being a good medicine. I have a good trade in PERUNA. It sells well and gives satisfaction."

Mr. Daniel R. Spry, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I have a good trade in PERUNA. It sells well and gives satisfaction."

Pawning Her Boy's Clothes for Medicine. A poor woman in Wales, whose boy had been very ill for several years, had expended all of her means for medicine. At last the doctors gave him up and said he must die. He suffered so terribly with rheumatism that he could not move. One day some one told her about the Mount Lebanon Shakers. The evidence of the curative powers of their "Secret of Life" was convincing that she pawned the poor boy's clothing to buy a bottle of the remedy (Sigsbee's Syrup), but now she feels proud that she has cured her boy.

SICK HEADACHE—Thousands who have suffered intensely with sick headache, and who have tried every remedy, have completely cured them. One gentleman thus relieved, writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold."

Reader, if you suffer with sick headache, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will do you positive good. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 doses one dollar.

Our Present Blessing. Our blessings are not appreciated until we are deprived of them. Most notable of these is health, the lack of which magnifies our other burdens. A hacking cough, a severe cold, or any throat or lung disease is very troublesome, but all these are quickly and permanently removed by Dr. Biglow's Positive Cure. Price 50 cents, trial bottles free of Baker Bros.

John Denney distinctly states that Acker's English Remedy has done more to cure contracted consumption, than any other medicine. An entirely new medicine, guaranteed. 4-ans to Apr 8

DIVORCE NOTICE. Catharine Brymre, Plaintiff, vs. John Brymre, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.

CATHARINE BRYMRE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN BRYMRE, Defendant. In Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, and State of Ohio.

JOHN BRYMRE, residence unknown, will take notice that on the 17th day of March, A. D. 1885, Catharine Brymre filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, being case number 2173, praying a divorce from said John Brymre, on the grounds of wilful absence for more than three years last past, and that said case be set for trial on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1885.